*Students Explore
New Worlds, New Horizons
With Social Sciences*

That's right — new worlds and new horizons with Social Sciences! It's unbelievable all the classes this department of Histories and Humanities offers! Traditional and required classes still grind on — like Geography (6) with its maps, charts and city planning, U.S. History (1) where students occasionally find themselves interested in what is discussed in class, regarding the history of America.

But now — now there are new classes with their own twist! Contemporary U.S. History (3) which is self-explanatory; you study the problems and changes that America is going through right now; Anthropology (5) where students study the origin (and early artifacts) of man. Sociology (8) for those people who want to study the human society (case in point!) Comparative Religions (2) offers interested students the chance to study and compare the religions of the world; and the most popular Humanities class of all, Psychology (7) where students study (enjoyably) the why's of human behavior and — who would YOU trust to lead you blindfolded down a flight of stairs? Last but not least, is Youth and Society (4) where students study and discuss with each other the role youth plays in modern society today.

From Stage
to Parades*

DRUM MAJOR Dale Edwards stands at attention amid the numerous trophies he has won for his performances at parades and competitions this year.

It's been a busy year for the musically inclined students here at Workman.

Award winning Drum Major Dale Edwards has led the Lobo Marching Band through countless parades and competitions; (and even parades are the millions and millions of practices and rehearsals), supported wholeheartedly by the Loboettes, Tall Flags, Shield Carriers, Flagtwirlers, and of course Mr. Edwards, whose energy and perseverance seem inexhaustible.

Concert, or as they are better known around campus, Stage Band has been busy too, with concerts, jazz festivals, and assemblies. The hard work of these students has its rewards too; the Tall Flags had received a second place award for their tap performance at a Miss Drill Team U.S.A. competition during February, for instance, and the rewards for others goes on.

Home Ec. Offers a Taste of Economics From Foods to Family Affairs

Home economic courses offered at Workman have students try their hand at domestic talents which include everything from Sewing to Consumer Foods (comparing home-made to commercially prepared foods). Family Affairs, too, offers different aspects of family life for examination.

"Men's liberation" has moved in on Home Economics, too! Now more than ever, guys are getting into cooking classes, and a few can be observed making Hawaiian print shirts in various sewing classes, too.

Don't forget Nursery Education!! That explains all those little kiddies seen running around campus from time to time. It gives students the chance to work with small children; helping them to adjust and enjoy being with other children, giving them a taste of what the start of their elementary education will be like.

In Family Affairs the class has many discussions on such topics as marriage, family relations, and reproduction.

Denise Ernst places her pattern on the material in Sewing II, hopefully.

In Sewing I Diane Diaz stops sewing to figure out what she does next.

Mrs. Witt checks Jenny Hughes and Richard Cuevas in Consumer Foods.

In Creative Clothing Terry Duarte hems up her jacket for the final finish.

In Sewing II class Mrs. Scheuring checks Cathy Umbrello's latest garment.

Sharon Thompson and Scott Butcher check their cinnamon rolls in Home Ec. I.

Want to Be a Kid Again? Take Nursery Education

Nursery Education is a course designed to train students for entry level in a pre school.

The curriculum includes the pre school children and the operation of a nursery school here on campus. The requirements include forty five hours of experience in local nursery schools.

The class also offers fun for everyone. Students may get involved in playing with blocks (1) or gluing things (38), or other various activities in the curriculum of the class.

Then, as the class comes to an end, the inevitable happens, the mother comes to pick up her child.

Vocational Nursing is an oriented class, designed to develop in students the performance of basic nursing skills, understanding of the nurses aide role in the nursing team, knowledge of body structure and function food services and recordkeeping as a health service

The class is offered for two periods so they can go to hospitals, clinics, and rest homes on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Workman Art Classes Offer- Fun, Skill, and Creativity

Art classes seem to provide the creative outlet for students wishing to express their artistic and creative abilities.

Offerings include everything from Basic Drawing and Painting (1,8) for budding young artists learning the basics; to Ceramics (2,4,13) for those who wish to go beyond the sketchpad and paint canel for creative expression.

3-D Drawing (6) offers students with an eye for perspective and detail expression for their keen talents, while Intermediate Painting (9,10,11,14) is a putting hard work into a painting. The 15 and painting an array (9,10,14) all together for a "Great Fake" painting display in the library alongside some fantastic originals too.

Then, of course, there are the room projects (3,15) designed to add life and interest to otherwise bare walls and empty windows — or the chance to have classroom assignments pegged up on the bulletin boards to compare styles and techniques (12).

For those interested in sculpture and print, there are also classes in sculpture (1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8,9,10,11,12,13,14,15) and printmaking (1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8,9,10,11,12,13,14,15) and watch their own creations — it's the real thing!

Robert Patterson studies the wooden block carefully for exact measurements before going on to put the glue over the Wood Shop project.

Lawrence Bruce grimaces at the thought of having a project disaster as he watches over his hot plate in Power Mechanics.

Interest in Industrial Arts Can Lead to Career Choices in Many Futures

Industrial Education helps many students to learn the basics of the Industrial Arts, which offer the different kind of class variety students enjoy and look forward to. Skills acquired may help students to decide on a future vocation or career such as carpentry, Electronics engineering, draftsman, mechanics and a host of other prospective looking careers.

Tim McGowan looks almost exasperated after being unsuccessful at working that puzzling machine, which friend Tom Marino decides to try his hand at in another phase of Power Mechanics.

Richard Grossman works hastily to get his type set up for his Graphic Arts project.

Dan Meens is too wrapped up in balancing a wheel to notice involved onlookers, Duane Koch, Pete Ortiz, Dan Hebert, and Steve Morales.

Mysterious student works diligently on a mysterious metal block, with pliers and a soldering iron in Metal II.

With the helpful observations and advice of Kenny Henry, Bobby Ferguson adjusts the Box and Pan Break in Metal I.

Gaining Experience in Business Ed Provides Good Background for Future Office Workers

Cindy rechecks her margin stops carefully before starting her timed writing in Typing I

Julie Hall pays particular attention to every word as she types up a classroom assignment in Typing II

Business Education is just what the headline implies ... it prepares students for the business career of their choice or helps them decide if a business future is what they really want out of life

In Office Machines, Frances Howard goes over the totals and subtotals on her adding machine tape

In Shorthand I girls like Judy Barnhouse take down dictations in Shorthand script.

In Office Machines, Judy Splawn busily types up a reply to a business letter, simulating the type of work done in a secretarial career

Mindi Henkel uses a great deal of concentration and precision as she carefully stencils an alphabet to be used later for running off dittos.

Lobo's Expand Knowledge Through New, Traditional Sciences

Fantastic! The worlds that science classes at Workman open up for students are unbelievable! You expand everything from basic experiment procedures to human anatomy to the intricacies of Physics. For the nature enthusiast there is Biology (pictures 3-6-7-8) in which you become acquainted with tiny microscopic inhabitants of the animal kingdom, create your own terrarium, a garden for everybody to see, discuss lab experiences and hustle to finish up the assignments after school.

For the ecology minded, Man and His Environment (picture 11) enables curious sophomore minds to observe man made solutions and pollutants and their effect on the world they live in. Through this class, the tenth graders get their first taste of basic experimentation on a high school level. They also come into contact with the hard working, but humor loving science teacher.

Chemistry (pictures 4-5-10) is translated into chemical experiments, comparing results with data charts, and learning the hardest lessons of all: carefulness and accuracy.

The contrasting aspects of science are found in studying Science and the Human Body (picture 9) and the study of the physical properties of today's world (picture 11) in Physics.

From Basic Math to Trigonometry...

Probably the hardest classes you'll ever tackle at Workman are Mathematics! Puzzled and dazed looks of not understanding, smiles that come from understanding, and downright concentration all tie in with math.

Just start with the basics and follow the endless possibilities around and around!

Classes range anywhere from Basic Math (5) for the beginner, to Senior Math (1) for the senior who wants a refresher course in the fundamentals, to Algebra I (7,8) and II (2,8) and Geometry (3,6), and finally Trigonometry for the serious, experienced, and smart student who's interested in finding out just how tricky (and hard) those angles, proofs, and tangents can get!

The year of 1951 found the Lobo Varsity finally putting things all together as they "cupped" their first championship in the school's history with a 5-2 record. Coach Bob Green led the Lobos to a 4-1 record before losing to Rowland in the game for sole possession of first place. The Lobo Club hopes were shattered when a coalition ruled that Baldwin Park and Rowland would represent the Montview League.

April Finds Varsity With 3-0 Record

This years Lobo Varsity team not only has pitching talent they also have a talent in batting. Errors seem to have no influence in the outcome of the game as demonstrated by the 7-4 met Royal Oak and errors proved costly to the Lancers. Baldwin Park experienced the feeling of defeat as the Lobos thumped them 7-4. Bruce MacDonald and Bill Mousseau hit homers. Joe Castner knocked in three RBIs with a two run homer and a sacrifice fly.

By throwing a three hitter, for his second league win, pitcher Bill Mousseau collected another win for the Lobos as they downed the Charter Oak Lancers, 6-1.

Workman High Reflects Students and Their Activities

This year's assemblies and rallies were a display of time, energy and talent as well as humor. Cheerleaders put on skits and stunts — such as pie in the face routine and dirty old man kissing the fair young maiden — to promote spirit.

At the Christmas assembly the Lobo Sounds presented an excellent performance along with the WHS Choruses. Both groups sang a selection of Christmas music, that illustrated varying shades of the celebration. Added to this was the newly formed group "AGAIN", which rendered "Silent Night" while Rick Campbell narrated a "six o'clock news cast." The two — hyman and depressing everyday news events — combined for an interesting contrast. The closing moments again featured the WHS band playing jazz and instrumental music. To top it off, Santa appeared in the bleachers.

"Bueno", a rock group, appeared on the Workman campus at lunch hour and drew quite a crowd of listeners. Finally, it can be said that WHS Assemblies and rallies, through student effort and participation, have been successful.

Workman HIGH TEN Awarded Highest Honors From Classmates Teachers

Top Ten Member

The TOP TEN
In every high school there are those who stand above the crowd who somehow seem to march to a different drummer
a drummer that drives them
by teachers
but by their peers -
those who work as their lab partners, who follow them down the court,
who listen in wonder to the questions they who receive their help who profit by their dating the first step in choosing these ten

VOICES
Grade point averages are checked, decisions are made (numbers 11 and 12 always present a problem)
list is finalized,
statuettes are ordered Graduation finds ten seniors who stand before their classmates - stand with pride,
are regarded with pride -

This year's Donkey Basketball Game, sponsored by A.F.S., was hilarious.

Both faculty and students had quite unusual uniforms. Sitting on the donkeys, some players were reminiscent of Don Quixote, while others had that transvestite look. The donkeys seemed to stifle any kind of coordination. Putting the ball through the basket was relatively simple, for most players, but getting the donkeys to move in the right direction and/or staying on them proved to be the real job. Although the student team had youth and energy, the faculty had the ageless wisdom that gave them the edge. The final score that recorded another faculty win could not be used to measure the amount of amusement on the part of the spectators nor the amount of money raised by A.F.S. Another Lobo tradition lives on as laughter and bumps and bruises remain in the memory until next year.

"In this frank, objective, yet compassionate portrayal of life on a California ranch in the 1930's, John Steinbeck attempts to achieve a balance of objectivity and compassion. It was hoped that no one was offended by the sometimes brutally strong language which was necessary to present an honest picture of things and people as they unfortunately, sometimes are." THE 1974

PIONEER STAFF-

PIONEER—a yearbook with infinite variations on a more yearbook standard. Faculty, administrators, clubs, sports, assembling, rolling and such fast as part of the book.

It's not just the PIONEER MONSTER. It's the fact that the students are proud to work on something that they've participated in and that they've helped to influence their future lives. The PIONEER is a symbol of the student's hard work, of all striving to complete something, of trying to express themselves and to be a part of something, and of their shared projects. The teacher is not making a mistake, but passing knowledge from ASB planning team to the student, and the basketball team, and to the JV coach and even to the JV coach's WHS. It's something to be proud of.

There are so many people I'd like to thank my staff for their patience, hard work and talent and especially to Nora Fitzpatrick and Debbie Skidmore for collecting ad contacts and putting the Ad Section together. Jim Cook who designed the new logo has understanding parents' thanks for giving us money and secret Missions for buying a new book cover. I am also grateful for being my time as a public figure. The Pioneer School Board and Pioneer District for being our friends. A special thank you to Nancy Kinsman for assisting me during my tenure at school completing deadlines and especially for her wonderful advice. Mrs. Mary Martin keeps without whom his edition of the PIONEER would have been impossible. Thanks to those who began collected the information, people, ideas, advertisements and photographs. We got several contributed their time and energy to make this year's PIONEER the success it is.

In conclusion, I like very much your picture of Helen and I propose to send you an Editor of the 1974 edition of the PIONEER. There are some things I want and I don't to be sent in moderation. I don't think it is hard to say anything but THANKS!

Judy and Sherril for being number one on the finish line in the Academic section a section that sparkles with creativity and originality. You really dared to be different.

John and Ray and Sharon for serving on the Pioneer club first summer and helping get things started.

Aaa — for trying so hard,
for remembering to smile
for your hard work on Clubs and Organizations

What a — for an unbelievably ambitious plan for the Clubs and Organizations section — an idea that worked out so well that it will be the despair of others who follow you. For being a person who has learned so much, so nicely.

Morris and Tinsley for going along with my long-held idea about the Center Register, for typing and checking for a position that has dignity and pleasure.

to all the staff members in thank you for getting up with me for working enough about Workman to want to get out this book. To each of you I dedicate the 1974 Pioneer Varia — editors are always generous (and only some times crazy), but your generosity has been so efficient and so warmly given — for picking up the many loose ends, for driving everyone (including me), for insisting on the best, for photography schedules, for a happy first 16 pages, and on and on and on — BUT MOST OF ALL, for growing and for learning during these three years and through it all still being able to laugh (even giggle). THANK YOU just doesn't begin to say it, but it's all I've got to offer — that and a beautiful and exciting book.

Jim — for daring to try something new in Campus Life, for the cover that is nothing short of a masterpiece for learning a great deal Cindy — for three years of generosity and hard work and patience for receipts and layouts and dittoes and file drawers but more than that for caring and being a lovely young woman

Bob,
glad to meet you
this year and I am glad to have you in my class good luck next year
